 DEKRA Insight

DEKRA Insight represents the collective expertise of our member companies, each an institution in safety.

THE EXECUTIVE FORUM MISSION

Senior leaders play a critical role in the safety of their organizations. Yet there are few learning opportunities that support the unique role and responsibility of the executive.

The Executive Forum offers senior leaders an exclusive meeting place of peers and ideas. Through discussion, expert talks, and powerful stories, insight meets experience and understanding inspires action. Executives explore today's most critical safety issues — and emerge with renewed purpose and new ideas. An emphasis on both the strategic and personal aspects of leading safety make the Executive Forum the only safety event of its kind.

What we're discussing in 2017

Executive Forum topics are selected for their timeliness and relevance to today's safety and business landscape.

Future Directions in Work and Safety.

The practices and technologies driving safety are changing faster than ever before. John Howard (NIOSH) explores the implications of how the changing nature of work affects safety and wellness in 2017 and beyond.

A Leader's Safety Journey.

Craig Morrison, CEO of Hexion, shares what he's learned leading safety in a global business — and what it means to personally invest yourself in the process of safety.

Contractor Safety Management.

Tackling one of the trickiest areas of safety management today, this leadership panel unpacks the hidden and not-so-hidden truths behind managing safety across organizational boundaries.

Optional Pre-Conference Seminar

The Leader's Role in Human Error Reduction

Led by Susan Koen, PhD

Wednesday, March 15 – 1:00pm – 5:00pm

Brain-centric hazards contribute directly to human errors in the workplace — including serious injuries and fatalities (SIFs) and loss of control incidents. Understand what the neuroscience research tells us, learn important mitigation strategies, and discover a proven roadmap to driving high human performance reliability.

Events & Networking

Executive Networking Reception

This informal get together on Wednesday evening is your chance to unwind from your travel, catch up with old friends, and make new acquaintances.
